

Rooted in the Eucharist

The Sisters of the Most Precious Blood was founded on September 8, 1845, by Mother Theresa Weber under the guidance of Karl Rollfuss in Steinerberg, Switzerland. Historical circumstances led the Sisters on a journey from Steinerberg to France, Germany, Illinois, and St. Louis, before establishing roots in O'Fallon, Missouri in 1875. In Steinerberg, the Sisters were called to adoration of the Most Precious Blood of Jesus in the Blessed Sacrament. Today, the Sisters are missioned to reverence the Most Precious Blood of Jesus in every human being.

Originating in the universal call to holiness of Vatican II and the changing needs of the Church, the Sisters began looking at an associate relationship in 1981. After years of information gathering and discernment, the first CPPS Partners in Mission made their initial commitment on September 15, 1990. Today, there are nearly 100 Partners and over 15 Junior Partners in four countries—Bolivia, Estonia, Finland, and the United States.

A Relationship

CPPS Partners in Mission is a relationship with the Sisters of the Most Precious Blood of O'Fallon.

Sharing a Charism

Partnership with the CPPS Sisters provides an opportunity for lay men and women to share in the Sisters' special way of living out the Gospel message of "being a reconciling presence" in the world and be supported in their faith journey.

"Seeking to bring the reconciling presence of Jesus to the world."

Partners make an annual commitment during a prayer service after a time of formation.

Supporting Our Faith Journeys

CPPS Partners in Mission and their Sister Prayer Partners gather monthly in small faith communities to deepen their relationship with God, each other, and the community through:

- Prayer
- Faith sharing
- Discussion
- Refreshments

Small faith communities are the  of Partners in Mission.

"For me, being a Partner in Mission means that I am in a relationship with other Partners and the Sisters who share similar values and beliefs. This relationship both challenges and supports me to act upon those beliefs and values. Being a partner has filled a void in my life."

—Partner Dawn Boschert

Healing Our Broken World

As small faith communities and individuals, Partners and their Sister Prayer Partners embrace a variety of opportunities to live the charism:

- in their daily lives with their families, friends, neighbors, co-workers, and those they encounter along the Way.
- by supporting the ministries of CPPS community through prayer, service and fundraising.
- by supporting other organizations—those most in need and those close to their hearts.
