

Delegation to the Family Detention Center in Dilley, Texas: May 13th-19th, 2018

Can you offer a week of your time to provide legal services to detained women and children or financially support someone who can?

Sign Up to Volunteer

Donate to Support
Volunteers' Travel Costs

IFCLA is excited to partner with the Missouri-Kansas Chapter of the American Immigration Lawyer's Association (MO-KAN AILA) to support a Spring delegation to the CARA Project in Dilley, Texas. The CARA Project coordinates pro-bono legal services for mothers and children detained at the South Texas Family Residential Center who would otherwise have no access to legal representation. Interpreters and attorneys assist women in the preparation of their credible fear interviews, which are an important step for seeking asylum in the United States.

Individuals may volunteer as attorneys or interpreters. Interpreters must be fluent in Spanish. All volunteers commit to a full week of work at the detention center. For further questions, please explore this FAQ sheet or contact the office for more details.

Even if you cannot volunteer, please consider making a financial donation to IFCLA to support volunteers' travel costs.
